C. E. DONLIN TAKES LIFE

CARBOLIC ACID IS FATAL TO FORMER HOPKINS BANKER.

DESPONDENCY CAUSE

Examiner Has Found No Irregularities In Closed Bank.—Worried Over Depositors, Friends Say.

Despondent over the failure of the Bank of Hopkins, of which he was vice-president, Charles E. Donlin committed suicide at his home in Hopkins this morning.

He was found about 10:30 o'clock this morning on the front porch of his home, when Mrs. Donlin returned from a few moments' visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wolfers. He had taken carbolic acid.

The Bank of Hopkins was closed by its directors on June 26 and it was announced that certain requirements of the State Finance Commission could not be met. R. E. Shelby, state bank examiner who is now in charge of the institution, has stated that no irregularities have been discovered, and Mr. Donlin's friends believe that none will be found.

Both Mr. Donlin and his father-in-law, E. C. Wolfers, who was president of the bank, lost their personal fortunes in an attempt to avert a crash, it was declared last week by the Hopkins Journal which said:

Earnings Swept Away.

"While a reorganization of the bank will save the depositors, the earnings of a life time of these two men have been swept away. Their records for honesty and sincerity of purpose are unsullied. Both have given liberally of their time and means in the upbuilding of Hopkins."

Friends of Mr. Donlin believe that it was worry over possible loss to depositors who trusted him, rather than his own disaster, which caused him to take his life.

He had told friends that it would be necessary for him to leave Hopkins in order to retrieve his lost savings.

On June 21, the Monday before the bank closed on Saturday, Mr. Donlin became suddenly and mysteriously ill in his garage, where he had gone to get his car, and he was found there by his wife. The motor of the car was running, but Mr. Donlin said he had left the doors of the garage open.

A Native of Hopkins.

Mr. Donlin, who was about 52 years old, was born in Hopkins. He moved to Illinois and was engaged in the grocery business there for a short time, but returned to Hopkins about thirty years ago and entered the same business. After his marriage, about twenty-five years ago, he entered the Bank of Hopkins and had been connected with it ever since.

Mrs. Donlin is the only surviving near relative. There are no children, and Mr. Donlin's parents are dead. A cousin, W. J. Donlin of Creston, Ia., was visiting him at the time of the suicide but he was down town.

Lamkin Named Member Exec. Committee

State Teachers College President Is Honored by National Education Association.

Uel W. Lamkin, president of the State Teachers College, was elected a member of the executive committee of the National Education Association at the meeting Friday afternoon. Mr. Lamkin, who was defeated in a close race Thursday for the presidency of the association, was honored in being named on the executive committee. This committee is composed of four ex-officio members and one person elected by representatives of the forty-eight states. Mr. Lamkin was the choice for this latter office.

Mr. Lamkin and Homer T. Phillips, teacher at the College, returned to Maryville Sunday from Philadelphia, where the annual convention of the N.E.A. was held last week.

St. Joseph got more advertising at the convention than any city outside of Philadelphia, according to both men. The air mail idea was worked into several novel advertising schemes at the convention, and the name of St. Joseph was to be seen from all angles.

Miss Etta Marie Stiverson spent the Fourth with friends at Hamburg, Ia.

He was thrown over into some weeds several yards away. Young Carmichael, who was driving the car, a Ford roadster, escaped with only a few minor cuts and bruises. Ellen Cowger suffered a sprained wrist and her sister was uninjured.

Wabash Tracks Are Damaged by Big Rain

Trains Proceed Cautiously Near Elmo —Downpour Is Heavy in Northwest Part of County.

A rain which was general over Nodaway County last night was especially heavy in the northwestern section, according to reports received today.

Near Elmo the downpour damaged about a quarter of a mile of track of the Wabash railroad, but No. 11, the morning passenger train from St. Louis to Omaha, was able to proceed after some delay. The train was already forty minutes late when it left Maryville.

A number of chickens owned by Amos Colvin, north of Elmo, were washed away and a horse was swept before the swift current of a stream but was able to swim out.

At Clearmont more than an inch of rain fell but no damage was reported. There was some hail there.

The rain was accompanied by violent thunder and lightning. A pony owned by Charles Bishop of Parnell was killed by lightning.

L. R. Sims, editor of the Burlington Junction Post, who was in Maryville, today, reported a heavy rain in that community last night. Mill creek, west of Burlington Junction, was out of its banks this morning, and the Nodaway river was up. From Mill Creek, the water was running across the road.

W. R. Littell of Tarkio, who drove to Maryville this morning on highway No. 18, reported the water at Mill Creek was up to the running board of the car, which passed across that creek this morning.

A heavy rain was reported at Bedford. In Maryville the rain was not very heavy.

Tomorrow Set for Drilling Renewal

After another delay caused by holiday shipping delays and last night's heavy rain, G. H. Rose has set tomorrow as the time for a fresh start on the drilling of the test well of the Quitman Oil and Gas Co.

Mrs. Emma Lee Mullin and sons, Archie and John, of Ceres, Cal., are guests for a week of Mrs. Mullin's brother, Charles R. Gardner. The visitors are en route to points in Kentucky.

Irby had given a check for $5 to Price & Null, and also two other checks, one for $5 to Westfall's and the other for $6 to the Marland Oil Co. Believes That Reorganization Of Service Is Virtually Completed—Effective Soon After August 11.

Washington, July 6.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury and head of the government's prohibition machine, today submitted his resignation to Secretary of Treasury Mellon.

Andrews declined to make any statement on his resignation. His friends, however, declared that he was not retiring because of discouragement over failure of Congress to enact prohibition legislation but that he considered that his work had been completed and he now desires to return to private life.

At Andrews' office a statement was given out declaring that 'it seems reasonable to believe that at the next session of Congress enactment of the entire program proposed by the treasury to strengthen enforcement will be completed.''

No statement was fotheoming from Mellon's office as to what action would be taken. It was understood, however, that the resignation would be "accepted with regret."

In a long conference with Secretary Mellon, Andrews told him that his work in reorganizing the prohibition service virtually had been completed. He accepted the post more than a year ago on the understanding that when the service was reorganized, he would be relieved of his duties.

Andrews asked that his resignation be effective soon after he returns from London on August 11.

N. Y. SUBWAY STRIKE IS ON

WORKMEN ON ELEVATED LINES THREATEN TO JOIN WALK-OUT

REPORTS CONFLICTING

Strike Leaders Insist Service Is At Standstill While Officials Say It Is 50 Per Cent Normal.

New York, July 6.—The dangerous situation brought about by the strike of motormen and switchmen on New York's main traffic line became more serious following announcement this afternoon that motormen on the company's elevated lines also will join the walkout.

The movement of 2,500,000 persons who usually ride daily on the subways will be practically impossible if the elevated service is effected by the strike, it was stated.

Already several panics have occurred. Men have been trampled under foot and thrust through windows. Numerous persons have suffered minor injuries.

At Times Square, one of the most crowded stations, a riot followed the failure of the apparatus which opens the doors of one of the trains. Scores fought to leave the cars through the windows which they smashed through.

New York, July 6.—New York City was today in the throes of a great subway strike. This morning, motormen and switchmen of the Interboro Rapid Transit, one of New York's two big subway lines, went on a strike for higher wages. At 9 o'clock, the peak hour of the morning rush, service on the Interbore, which operates from the city limits of New York to the limits of Brooklyn, was seriously crippled.

Some trains were running at half speed, manned by strike breakers imported from Chicago, Cleveland and other points west. Police manned all subway stations to prevent violence. Several arrests were made up to 9 o'clock but no violence was reported.

Neither the company nor strike leaders had reliable figures on the number of men affected. Leaders of the strike insisted that service on the line was practically at a standstill. Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interboro, declared the service was 50 per cent normal.

Chicago, July 6.—Non-union traction workers were being recruited in Chicago today for service in New York during the subway strike. A special train, carrying more than 150 strike-breakers, was reported to have left here for New York yesterday. Other specials, laden with non-union workers, are expected to leave here today.

WILL PUBLISH PARTIAL LIST

AMES OF SOME DRY DONORS TO BE MADE PUBLIC.

TELLS OF A CHEATING

Pinchot and Pepper Didn't Get Money's Worth, Manager Says.—Wets Announce Their List.

Washington, July 6.—After a hectic session in which the Senate slush fund committee reversed itself several times about making public the names of Anti-Saloon League contributors and the amount of their contributions, a compromise was finally reached this afternoon to make public a partial list of dry donors since 1925.

This decision followed the publication by Capt. William H. Stayton of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment of donators and the amounts given, which showed that Mrs. Barend Van Gerbig of New Canon, Conn., was the largest contributor to the wet cause, being credited with $5,200 in five installments.

The largest contribution to the Anti-Saloon League was that of the John D. Rockefellers, father and son. They were credited with $20,000 since 1925.

Washington, July 6.—An army of political workers in Philadelphia cheated Governor Gifford Pinchot and Senator George W. Pepper in Pennsylvania's recent three-million-dollar Republican Senatorial primary, T. Henry Walnut, a Pinchot manager, told the Senate slush fund committee today.

The workers took pay from the Pinchot and Pepper camps to get out votes, Walnut said, but their work was so futile that Representative William S. Vare rolled up one of the greatest pluralities ever recorded in a Philadelphia primary.

While both Pepper and Pinchot were being cheated, Walnut indicated that Vare was the only candidate to get his money's worth in Philadelphia.

Washington, July 6.—While the Senate slush fund committee wrangled today over the question of declining the wishes of Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, and making public the names and contributions, the wets announced a list of those who contributed $500 or more to the fight for the modification of prohibition.

After planning to make public the names of the dry angels at this morning's session, a conflict arose in the committee and publication was temporarily held up.

Meanwhile, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment submitted figures showing Larz Anderson, former diplomat, with the largest contribution, $1,500.

BALANCE WITH TAXES SOUGHT

SUGGESTED BY CAILLAUX INSTEAD OF LOANS.

EASILY ACCOMPLISHED

Would Fix Assessments on Sliding Scale in Accordance With Fluctuation Of the Franc.

Paris, July 6.—A budget balanced by taxation rather than by loans was suggested by finance minister Caillaux today when he presented his financial program to a crowded Chamber of Deputies that appeared to be rather openly hostile.

The balancing of the budget by taxation should be easily accomplished, the finance minister said, and he advocated that taxes be fixed on a sliding scale in accordance with the fluctuation of the franc.

In his opening speech, Caillaux devoted considerable time to the question of restoration of the devastated areas. He declared that an internal loan of fifteen billion francs would be necessary for restoration purposes.

Caillaux told the Chamber that he will shortly ask the deputies to ratify the Mellon-Berenger accord for the settlement of the French debt to the United States, with modifications which he hoped to obtain.

Glorious Fifth Is Celebrated in Regular Style at Country Club

The Glorious Fifth was celebrated in regular style yesterday at the Maryville Country Club. From early morning until early morning, the club was the scene of social and athletic activity in Maryville. While the business district was deserted and the residence portion of town slept away the day of vacation, the Country Club was activity plus.

Golf was the primary order of the day, and, while many competed in the city tournament, some played for the joy of playing, and others for the exercise and the coat of sunburn.

Fireworks were the feature of last evening. With Luther Forsyth, Dr. E. C. Braniger and L. M. Eek as masters of ceremonies, dollars and dollars and dollars went sailing into the air on the tails of skyrockets and in the gyrating sparks of pinwheels, while Battery C, under the command of Capt. Edward V. Condon, fired fifty-five rounds of the loudest and smokiest ammunition that was ever belched from the mouth of a French 75. Cars packed the parking space and the driveway of the club during the demonstration and a line of automobiles put the quietus on any and all forms of traffic on the road east of the golf course. Several hundred persons sat on car cushions, pillows, and newspapers on the fairway just north of the clubhouse and watched the many-colored streams of fire from the rockets, flares, and candles; and felt the earth quiver beneath them as the field artillery pieces roared forth their contribution.

Ferdinand Townsend, W. J. Montgomery, and F. C. Miller superintended the sending up of a dozen or more multicolored and multishaped balloons just before the fireworks demonstration; and a six-piece orchestra furnished music for the dance which was the crowning event of the day of celebration. Several picnic parties were given at the club yesterday.

Three golf tournaments were completed yesterday, and today Byron Costello, L. M. Eek, and Martin Lewis, jr., are wearing the smiles of victory and are suffering the discomfort of the aches which comes from anywhere from twenty to forty holes of cow-pasture pool.

Costello won the championship flight of the tournament by defeating O. M. Watkins in the final match, 2 up. Previously, he had won from Frank Myers, 2 up, and Watkins had defeated C. G. Vogt, 1 up in ten holes.

In the first round of the tournament, Dr. Jesse Miller won from Dr. H. S. Dowell, Watkins won from F. C. Miller, Vogt defeated Forrest Gillam, M. A. Peery won over T. A. Cummins, Costello defeated L. M. Eek, O. K. Bovard won from E. T. Dale, Frank Myers won from M. S. Hamilton, and H. Frank Lawrence won from Ellis Cook.

The winners of the first round went on in the championship flight and the losers went into Class A. In the second round of the leading flight, Watkins won from Dr. Miller, Vogt defeated Peery, Costello downed Bovard, and Myers won over Lawrence.

In Class A, F. C. Miller drew a bye, Gilliam defeated Cummins, Eek won from Dale, and Hamilton was victorious over Cook. Then Miller won from Gillam, 1 up, and Eek downed Hamilton, 2 up. In the finals of the class, Eek won from Miller, 4 up.

Class B composed of all who played in the qualification round and were under the sixteen highest, W. A. Rickenbrode won from Senator M. E. Ford, Martin Lewis, jr., won from Paul Basford, Kyle Phares won from J. F. Hull, E. Miller won from George Herren, E. Bainum won from Clun Price, R. C. Seal won from Guy Mercer, Edward V. Condon won from Harold Miller and C. F. Remus won from B. D. Null.

The second round saw victories for Lewis, Phares, Seal and Condon. In the semifinals, Lewis won from Phares, 3 up, and Seal defeated Condon, 1 up.

Lewis won a 3-up from Seal in the final match.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Vance and son and Mrs. R. J. Wolfe and children motored to Lincoln, Neb., Saturday. Mrs. Wolfe was joined by her husband there and they went to Horton, Kan., for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Vance went to York, Neb., for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Weidner.

HAVE A CAMEL

There never was a smoke so pleasing as Camel

IN LIFE'S supreme moments no cigarette can compare with Camel. No other cigarette ever was made so good, for Camel excellence is the result of skill. Skill in finding the world's choicest tobaccos—in blending, as only the world's largest organization of experts can.

From the beginning Camel took its stand on the quality platform, and nothing could ever induce its makers to change Camel tobaccos. No expense is spared, no care is too great to make Camel the world's most satisfying smoke, regardless of price.

In popularity with smokers, no cigarette made can touch Camels. Camel quality has been rewarded with the greatest demand, the largest sales any cigarette ever enjoyed. Since smoking began, there was never such a growing preference as for Camels. Camel rewards its friends with enjoyment that never ends, for Camels never tire the taste, simply never leave a cigaretty after-taste.

If you have never tried Camels, if you do not know how good, how satisfying a cigarette can be, we invite you to try them now for the utmost in smoking pleasure. Have the best that's made—we invite you—

Have a Camel!

Holidays Featured by Baseball Games

Pickering And Burlington Junction Are Winners In Close Ones.—Hopkins Cops Two.

Several good baseball games featured the Fourth of July holidays in Nodaway County towns.

Perhaps the feature game was one played at Pickering Sunday, in which Pickering defeated Clarinda, Ia., by a 2-1 score.

Burlington Junction also had a close one Sunday, defeating the Atchison County All-Stars, 1 to 0. Yesterday Burlington Junction won from Stanberry, 8 to 5.

At Clarinda's July 4th celebrating, Hopkins defeated Villisca yesterday, 7 to 4. Sunday Hopkins won from Bedford, 5 to 0.

Tarkio defeated the Grain Belt team of St. Joseph, 2 to 0, in a game played yesterday at Tarkio.

The Pickering-Clarinda game was a pitching duel between Gumm of Pickering and Harper of Clarinda. Pickering scored once in the opening inning and again in the fifth, while Clarinda tallied only in the third. The game was featured by L. D. Smith's runing catch of a hot grounder. The line-ups were as follows:

Clarinda: Sims, 2b; Anderson, rf; Hutchings, lf; Grey, ss; Harper, p; Annan, 3b; Hayes, c; Hindren, cf; Nevius, 1b.

Next week Pickering will play the Atchison County All Stars at Quitman. In a previous clash on June 6, Pickering won from the All Stars by a 13-7 score, but the Atchison Countians have been playing some classy ball lately.

Hopkins, in its victory over Villisca, had Haynes and Turner as its battery, while Villisca had English and Kendall.

The Pride of Your Boy

A funny thing about our boys' suits is that they're apt to make boys jealous—not the boys who wear them, of course, but boys who don't. This isn't half bad, however, as jealousy of another boy's appearance is apt to make the jealous boy prink up, which is always good. Put one of our new boy's suits on your boy and see how it works.

Priced so that any mother can buy one for her boy.

Announcement of Intention to Continue the Practice of Dentistry in Maryville

So many of my friends in Maryville and Nodaway County have expressed the desire for me to continue to practice dentistry here that I have decided to do so.

Accordingly, I have a newly decorated and equipped office for the use of my friends and patrons and with the kind of service which has characterized my practice throughout the years, I shall hope for no more than my just portion of work in my line. I feel that the public is so familiar with my qualifications as a dental craftsman that no mention need be made of them here.

I am now ready to resume practice following the break which was made necessary during the modernizing of my office and I shall hope to be numbered among the dentists of Maryville for many years to come if the demands for my services seem to justify it.

Paul Diss Enjoys Pacific Coast Trip

Maryville Boy Describes Beauties of Nature As Viewed From Deck of a U. S. Battleship.

While Maryville swelters under a midsummer sun, vacation joys aboard a United States naval vessel are described by Paul Diss, Maryville boy who is in the naval radio service, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diss.

The letter, written from Bremerton, Wash., on June 27, says:

"We sure took plenty of time in getting here but we finally did. What took most of our time was maneuvers. It wasn't until Thursday night that the California left the fleet and started for here. The Relief also came along but she went to Seattle. Our trip up here took well over a hundred hours. It is only about a thousand miles up here from Frisco, but we traveled around three thousand.

"The trip was exceptionally nice. We hit no rough weather at all, and outside of a couple of cold and foggy days it was real pleasant. One afternoon when I went up on deck to get some fresh air, I found it just as clear as a bell. The sun was clear and hot, the breeze was nice and cool, and the sea was so calm and blue as to be almost artificial. It certainly was an ideal day.

"We were not sure when we would get here. Every time I had a watch up on the bridge the compass would read south. I thought that perhaps we were going to Hawaii instead of here. But finally we left the fleet and started for here as fast as we could come on two boilers. That was only about 18 miles an hour.

"Going through the strait yesterday, it was nice and clear, an exceptionally perfect day for the strait, they say. It certainly was pretty. On both sides you could see the hills covered with timber. Real trees—not the kind in Missouri. The water was blue and with everything blending that way it sure was pretty.

"We steamed along that way for most of the day. Finally, on the port side, we saw the outskirts of Seattle. It wasn't long until we could see Seattle itself. It was a mile or more away, but it was pretty just the same. We kept on up the Sound though, and the Relief alone went on over to Seattle. In about three-quarters of an hour, a tug put the pilot and also the mail aboard. We started for the Navy yard at Bremerton, and as we went on it got prettier. The woods were so thick and green and you could smell it, too. Along the shore every now and then was a cabin.

"We docked about 6:30 and we are here. The Maryland is here now, but she will leave Wednesday. We will start work soon cleaning and overhauling the ship in dry dock. We will be here around a month, so I will see a lot more before I leave."

Car Goes Into Ditch and Three are Bruised

George McMurry, jr., Kenneth Swinford, and Vilas Glover were all slightly bruised late last night when a car in which they were riding went into a ditch near Grant City. The boys were brought to Maryville by Charles Williamson, a student at the State Teachers College. The car was not badly damaged.

Miss Ruth Clayton spent the Fourth with her parents at Pickering.

Yehle Dry Goods Co

The BOBCAT

BY HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Big Tim Burke, real estate operator, and known to his associates as a land pirate, discharges one of his young lieutenants called Pol Gaillard, because he is irritated by the latter's sleekness of appearance, and nonchalant manner. Pol learns that his ex-boss covets a desirable piece of Long Island property owned by Professor Husted and that another land shark, Michael Cadrigan, is after the same bit of land. Cadrigan lives on the shore of Long Island sound with his step-daughter, Veronica. His estate is across the bay from that of Professor Husted. The old professor lives like a hermit, and Veronica is his only visitor. Cadrigan asks Veronica to discontinue calling on the old man, intimating that the professor's enemies may harm her. Noticing a sloop anchored opposite the house, Veronica suggests to her step-father that they call on the owner. They are invited on board, and their host introduces himself as Pol Gaillard, posing as an itinerant poet and artist. That night Pol rows over to the Husted house and while he is ashore his sloop is cut adrift. He rows over to his boat and releases his second anchor. The next night he and Veronica meet at Professor Husted's house. On leaving Pol finds his boat has been scuttled. The professor invites Pol to be his guest and he accepts, although he is able to salvage his boat.

Pol dines with the Cadrigans. His host offers him five thousand dollars to get Professor Husted to sell him his land. Pol refuses. That evening he rows over to the Italian settlement to get some food and, incidentally, to pick up what information he can.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

A SECRET.

The swift response to Pol's friendly offer came in a beautiful softening of the Italian sullen eyes and a rich, warm flush under them.

"I guess I missed something about you, mister. I thought you were just a boy out of college with nut notions.

"Nearly right," said Pol, "but I've been six years out of college."

"I can see now you're the real thing. I'm just a sort of hick Wop myself, but I know the right sort even out of the movies. I don't want you to feel sorry for me, though."

"It would need even more of a fool than I am to feel sorry for a girl that looks and speaks and acts as you do. But that makes me all the sorrier to see those things wasted here."

"Say, you sure got the cheer up recipe. But I might say the same thing about you."

"No, because I had my chance—and turned it down. Or, rather, got it turned down for me."

She looked at him curiously, and a little shyly. "What was the trouble?"

"Too quick on the come-back. Call it sass."

"What was your boss?"

"A sort of Cadrigan, without Cadrigan's slick tongue. That's what made him sore with mine." Pol fixed his eyes on hers. "Perhaps you know his name. Your father would, I think. I'll tell you, if you will promise to keep it secret."

The straight, fine brows drew down a little. "I don't like secrets."

"You might like this one, if you kept it to yourself a little while. I would not be telling you to hear myself talk."

She pursed her red lips, looking doubtful. "Is it anything to put the skids under Cadrigan?"

"He might think so. He believes this man's got his knife out for him. Maybe he has, but I think I've disarmed him. If I am right, it would be just the knife for your father to cut a melon with."

She laid her hand on Pol's arm, drawing a little closer. "Not Tim Burke," she whispered.

"That's the party. I'm putting you next, because it would be to the interest of us both to stall this pair of land pirates."

She drew a little closer. "Say, what's your name?"

"Pol Gaillard. I was Burke's land scout until he told me that he didn't like my name, and liked me even less. What's yours?"

"Gulia. Gulia Spinelli. Say, you sort of scare me, Mr. Gaillard."

"No, I don't Gulia. It's the idea of Cadrigan that scares you."

"What do you want me to do?" Gulia whispered.

"Keep me posted, if you hear anything. A note in the egg basket. Find out who sank my boat and who's decorating the scenery with painted daggers."

"I don't know."

"Well, try to find out. But if you would rather not mix in, then just sit tight and say nothing about what I've told you. Not that it makes much difference, as Cadrigan is bound to get his spot light on my number pretty soon. Perhaps he has already."

Gulia gave him a troubled look. "How do I know you ain't stringin' me?"

"You don't. That's where you have to take a chance on my being square." Pol fixed his eyes on hers, and held them. "I'll tell you something else. It looks to me as if you Italians here were in a way to get something framed on you. That's what I'd like to show up. Look at me, Gulia——" Pol dropped his hands lightly on her shoulder and held her at arm's length. "Do you think I'm the sort of man to slip a raw deal over on a girl like you?"

Gulia did not repel his contact. She shook her head, her face losing a little of rich color. "Papa says, 'in dealing with gentlemen you can't be too careful'," she murmured.

Pol gave a merry laugh. "Papa is dead right. Well, let's hope I'm not that kind of a gentleman. Honestly, Gulia, I'm playing this hand to get square. No man can insult my name and me and get clean away with it. And no man can sink my boat without even heart enough to take off my poor cat and get clean away with that. I'm out for their hides, and I tanned one of their understrapper's hides this morning." He let fall his hands and chuckled.

"What guy was that?" Gulia faltered, looking still more scared.

"Cadrigan's groom, Dennis. I caught him spying on me and I chased him and beat him up, like an egg."

Her face glowed. "You beat up that big bum? But he used to be a prize fighter." Her face showed disbelief.

"Well, he didn't get any prize this morning. You see me, and you've only got to lamp his map next time he canters past. He'll be wearing medals all over it. Blue ones."

Gulia clasped her hands. Ardent admiration was not streaming from her eyes. Also an abounding satisfaction, a sort of frightened glee.

"Say, Mr. Gaillard, if you've taught that fresh guy not to go where he had no business you're high with this family. But I don't see where you keep it——" Her gaze flitted over Pol's lean face and spare build, or what looked to be such in the loose clothes.

"Where axmen and golfers keep their swing, which is in the head," Pol answered. "Has he been bothering you?"

"Worse than that. He's driven all my friends away, boys, I mean. There's not one dares be seen out with me. Papa would show him something, only he's afraid he might get in wrong with Cadrigan."

Pol looked at her thoughtfully. "Dennis is probably the sneak that sunk my boat. He must have seen me here yesterday when he was riding hard on Miss Cadrigan."

"Well, it's possible, Mr. Gaillard. After his boss had been out visiting with you, Dennis would hardly have had the nerve to do you up."

Pol nodded. "If you see Dennis before I do, tell him from me that what I did to him this morning isn't to go on the boat account which is entirely separate. Tell him I'm convinced he sank it. I should say that this lad, Dennis, is about fifty-fifty bluff and sneak. He can't fight and he's not even a good runner, and he probably knows it and, therefore, prefers to work in the dark. I should say he was the one who has been decorating Mr. Husted's premises with the fancy crimson daggers. But that's another job."

"I guess old man Husted must be getting sort of nervous," Gulia ventured. "Mebbe that's the reason he wanted you to stop with him."

"Not for a second. There's no more scare in the professor than there is in an old war horse. And if I were looking around for lunatics, he would be my last choice."

"Then why does he want to live there all alone with all that valuable property going to waste?" asked Gulia.

"Simply because his past experience of human nature hasn't been of a sort to make him put much value on near neighbors. He doesn't hate mankind, but he likes it at a distance, the way your Neapolitans might like Vesuvius."

"Gee, Mr. Gaillard, but you got some funny ideas."

"This is a funny world, Gulia. The funniest part of it is that often when a person's ideas are different from those of most other people, they say that he's a nut, no matter how sensible these ideas may be. Because Professor Husted has no use for money and the things money can buy, but likes to live undisturbed, people say he must be crazy. They might say the same thing about me because I'd rather live in a boat with a cat than in a bungalow with a family."

"I guess you'll change your mind about that some day."

"Very likely. Just as you are apt to change yours about rather being a business woman than a married one. Most of us get our minds changed for us."

"That's right, Mr. Gaillard." The look that she fastened on Pol would have seemed to indicate that such a change of heart might not be far distant.

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Annie Kwinski of 526 1st Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., writes that she became so weak and run-down that she was not able to do her housework. She saw the name Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the paper and said to her husband, "I will try that medicine and see if it will help me." She says she took six bottles and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Mattie Adams, who lives in Downing Street, Brewton, Ala., writes as follows: "A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and since taking it I feel like a different woman."

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grand-children, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women past fifty, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

WORLD'S LARGEST CHAIN DEPARTMENT STORE ORGANIZATION

J. C. Penney Co. INC. DEPARTMENT STORES

A NATION-WIDE INSTITUTION

RELIABLE QUALITY GOODS ALWAYS AT LOWER PRICES

"Where Savings Are Greatest"

STORE NO. 235—MARYVILLE, MO.

Stronger and Stronger Grows

the Far-Reaching Ability of This Nation-Wide Institution To Save the Public Money!

Every Man and Woman Knows that large savings in the cost of goods are to be had when ordered in large quantities. A $1,000,000 order for Shoes, for example, will buy each pair at a far lower price than if a comparatively few pairs are ordered.

Buying for 745 Department Stores means unusually large orders, always commanding the lowest possible cost consistent with the high standard of quality we insist upon.

Selling for cash only and thus having the cash to pay the manufacturer, we always get the added discounts which cash-buying obtains.

Manufacturers, as is easily understandable, are glad to go to extremes in putting such quality of materials, finish and workmanship into the goods ordered in such large quantities by us for only by producing goods that measure strictly up to our high standard can they hope to obtain further orders.

This means much to you! In our peerless buying power rests a saving power for you which is not duplicated. You can verify the superior quality and savings to be had at this Store; at any J. C. Penney Company Store wherever it may be located, by making comparisons whenever most convenient to you.

FARM GLIMPSES

BY BILLY TILSON.

Sheridan Graves and wife, George Bennett and wife and Ben Jones, wife and son will leave the last of the week for a trip down through the Ozarks and on down into Arkansas for a 15-day outing. While gone, Mr. Jones and Mr. Bennett will attend the rural carriers convention at Willow Springs, Mo., which will be held July 16th and 17th, they being two of the delegates from this county. They will make the trip in their automobiles and expect to camp out.

Henry Westfall and wife, southeast of Skidmore, were visiting in the city yesterday. Mr. Westfall says crop conditions are looking very favorable down in his neighborhood. He thinks that better times are emerging and the clouds that have been hanging over the farmers for the past few years will soon pass away and they will find themselves standing in the sunlight once more. The heavy load that they have been carrying will gradually slip from their shoulders, he believes.

H. B. Glines, northwest of Pickering, reports most of the wheat in the shock up his way. Oats will soon be ready for the binder, corn is growing very fast and he can't see anything in the way of an average crop year.

L. A. Hammond, northeast of Ravenwood, reports the prospects for a fair crop of corn over his way. He says oats are going to make a very good yield. The acreage of wheat is small but some good fields can be seen. Pastures are in condition for stock and everything considered it doesn't look like a bad year.

Caled Jobe near Bedford, Ia., was visiting in Maryville last Saturday. He reports a good rain up that way Friday night and the farmers up that way are making no complaint as to the crop outlook. Mr. Jobe and family resided near Barnard, but have been residents of Iowa for several years. Mr. Jobe says this old county of Nodaway looks mighty good to him.

John Davis, southeast of Hopkins, says the corn outlook is getting better every day in his territory and while some of it is small on account of having to replant a good many acres that was washed out by the rains he thinks that a fair crop of corn will be raised in Hopkins township. He says wheat and oats will be better than expected.

Charles Hornbuckle, southeast of Clearmont, had a load of cattle on the St. Joseph market last Friday. He wasn't complaining of the price.

Pat Farrens, northeast of Maryville, had hogs on the St. Joseph market last Saturday. The price was a little off that day but Pat says they made a nice premium for the feeding.

Hiram Groves and family, west of Barnard, were visiting in the city Saturday. Mr. Groves says the corn is improving fast down that way most all the wheat and oats will be in the shock by the last of this week.

Rolla Blaine and wife and C. C. McDermott and wife of the Clearmont neighborhood were shopping in Maryville Saturday. Rolla and Charley says that corn is looking fine barring a few acres of oats and wheat will be a much better yield than was expected earlier in the season.

Interesting 3-State Trip All in One Day

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell Visit Cities In Kansas, Nebraska And Missouri—Crop Prospect Good.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell spent Sunday and Monday motoring in Nebraska and Kansas, passing through Rulo, White Cloud, Troy, Atchison and Leavenworth, returning via St. Joseph.

Practically all of the wheat in that section has been cut and shocked, with the prospects excellent for a good yield. Corn seems to be averaging better than it does in this county. From Atchison south to Leavenworth rain is badly needed. The grass is burned to a crisp and the corn starting to curl.

The free tourist park at Leavenworth is small, dirty and poorly equipped and not at all in keeping with a city of nearly 20,000. It is not to be surprised that the number of tourists who stay there is small.

While there the Caldwells met Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Allen and family who are spending a week's vacation at her home.

The weekly band concert given by the large band at the federal penitentiary draws a large crowd of people as the music is most excellent. A great many cars were parked in all of the streets surrounding the front of the prison where the band plays on an outdoors band-stand. The concert lasts one hour from 6:15 to 7:15 o'clock and is worth going a long way to hear.

The free bridge at Leavenworth, which has recently been opened after being idle for many years, is already handling a large amount of inter-state motor travel.

An interesting one-day trip in three states for Maryville people is to go West to the ferry at Rulo, Neb., via Skidmore, Maitland, Mound City, and Bigelow. The one-way ferry rate is 75c per car or $1 round-trip; then turn south to White Cloud, Kan., an interesting Indian town on the river. There is also a ferry operating there, which offers connections with Forest City and Oregon, Mo; then go southwest to the Pikes Peak Ocean to Ocean Highway, and turn eastward through Highland and Troy to St. Joseph. From Troy to St. Joseph, fourteen miles is paved and passes through the fruit and vineyard area around Wathena. The total distance for this trip is less than 150 miles.

For those who have more time it is enjoyable to go south from Troy to Atchison, and thence on to Leavenworth. The return trip can be made either from Leavenworth or Atchison to St. Joseph, via Bean Lake and Sugar Lake. The road is paved from Atchison to St. Joseph, and only a short detour now remains on the new paving from St. Joseph to Savannah.

TO SHOW HOW TO SAVE LIFE

RED CROSS EXPERT WILL HAVE PUBLIC DEMONSTRATION.

TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Ned Campbell, Crack Swimmer, to Illustrate Breaking of Drowning Holds and Rescue.

A public demonstration of life saving and water safety methods will be given tonight at the Sanitary Swimming Pool at 7:30 o'clock tonight by Ned Campbell, here today in the life saving field service of the American Red Cross. A demonstration for State Teachers College students at the college pool also is being arranged.

There will be no admittance charge for either demonstration.

The demonstration will include life saving methods, releasing of holds of drowning persons, carrying, and the Schaeffer method of prone pressure resuscitation. The Red Cross expert will remain in Maryville over tomorrow.

"We are trying to acquaint the public with what the Red Cross life saver really is and what steps he is willing to take in order to help a person who may be in danger in the water," Mr. Campbell said.

"We want also to show the public," he continued, "that the Red Cross is not only a war time institution but is at work all the time to save human life."

Campbell also will give review work to the local corps of life saving examiners, composed of Misses Helen Manley and Nora Parr of the State Teachers College faculty and Maurice ("Buster" Strong. Wallace Hilsenbeck, life saver at the Sanitary pool, is an applicant to become an examiner.

Twenty-four have passed the life savers' tests here, but several are no longer in Maryville. Those who have been awarded the official badge are Reed Holt, Donald Bellows, Mr. and Mrs. George Murray, Miss Esther Gile, John Price, jr., Maurice Strong, E. A. Kendall, and, at the State Teachers College, Maurine Aeby, Lucy Allen, Maurine Allison, Adaline Bennett, Fern Bennur, Gladys Blessing, Marie Chandler, Roberta Cook, Virginia Dean Helen Ruby Doak, Eloise Littell, Opal Mallory, Mrs. Evelyn Mapel, Margaret Quinlan, Merle Shreve and Doris Shuler.

Junior life savers are Charles and Mabel Aley, Claud Greenley, Vilas and John Henry Thorp and LaVerne Campbell.

The State Teachers College has about 100 beginners and 100 others who have passed what is known as the swimmer's test.

Americans in China Get Firecrackers Cheap for July 4, Says Vernon Nash

(The following account of the Fourth of July in China, taken from the Kansas City Journal Post, was written by Vernon Nash, a former city editor of the Democrat-Forum, now in educational work in China.)

Peking, July 3.—What do Americans do to celebrate the Fourth of July when they are outside America? Several answers which can be given for those of us in North China would probably prove generally true around the world. First, wherever eighteen men can be collected, there is a ball game. In these latter days, a shortage of a half dozen or so men is of no moment for there are always girls and young women ready to fill in. The details of American infantry and marines stationed in various centers throughout China, however, always insures a real game here.

Second, there are abundant fireworks. Thanks to the Chinese, crackers, roman candles, skyrockets and sky pieces can be purchased all over the Orient very cheaply. We know one American with a large family of children who joined his family at Peitaiho, the summer colony beach resort, for the week end holiday over the Fourth and who went down supplied with only 20,000 of the smallest size firecrackers with other fireworks to match. Being a lawyer with a good practice, it is doubtful if he dented a week's income very much for the lot.

Of course, there are always the inevitable verbal pyrotechnics which we have come to associate with Independence day. At the town of Peitaiho mentioned in the foregoing, where most of the foreigners of North China may be found during the hot season, the speech making was made international in character. Representatives of almost a score of nations told what the American nation meant to their fellow citizens and dwelt on the significance of the Declaration of Independence of the United States in lands other than America. It was rather a new and thrilling experience for Americans.

The American legation in Peking and the various consulates throughout China each Fourth of July hold open house to officialdom generally, both civil and military. Americans abroad do not permit themselves to forget their nation's birthday.

Tighten Up Leaks of Industrial Alcohol

luid to Be Effectively Poisoned Before Being Put on Market, as Result of New Order.

Washington, July 6.—Steps to tighten up the leaks of medicinal liquor and industrial alcohol were taken today by the prohibition bureau. A new chemical formula designed to outwit the bootleggers who have been refining industrial alcohol was put into effect. Hereafter, industrial will be shot with a combination of typridine benzine, gasoline and wood alcohol.

New orders were issued compelling druggists to submit records of their alcohol sales.

Bedford Fair Officers Planning Big Welcome

Want Two Hundred Cars To Make Trip From Maryville.—Secretary Writes C. of C. Office Here.

The following letter relative to Maryville day at the Bedford, Ia. fair from C. N. Nelson, secretary, was received this morning at the local Chamber of Commerce office:

"I have not written you lately about arrangements for the Maryville day at our fair. I suppose you are going on with arrangements, and hope we can make this a real day. You did not tell me definitely what day you would take.

"Now anything I can do to boost this along, let me know and I will gladly do it. I hope you can make it 200 cars in a string.

"Let me hear from you so I can have some Maryville news in the papers. Work out your own plans and I am with you. If possible, it would be better to have your day as early as possible in the week, so it it is a bad day, you could come later. Our fair is a 6-day event."
